Hand-drawn wireframe of a contact form titled "Contact". The form is divided into two main sections. The left section contains three rows, each with a circular icon (location pin, envelope, and a checked box) followed by a horizontal line for text input. The right section contains a small rectangular box at the top right, followed by two rows of horizontal lines for text input, and a large rectangular box at the bottom for a message. A "send" button is located at the bottom right of the right section.

The image displays a collection of hand-drawn sketches of arrows, organized into rows. Each sketch is labeled with a letter from 'a' to 'z' on the left side. The arrows vary in their shaft design, including straight shafts, shafts with fletching (feathers), and shafts with different types of nocks. Some arrows have multiple fletches, while others have a single large fletch. The sketches are drawn in a simple, illustrative style, showing the basic form and structure of each arrow type.
